The Pitchburst Story

It all started with a drought!

In the hot, dry summer of 1999 we wanted to use a dunk tank for a charity backyard carnival. When told by local (Bucks County, PA) authorities that water use restrictions prohibited filling the 500-gallon tank, we got creative and built Pitchburst -- the first "drought-proof dunk". Just hit the target and burst the water balloon -- one gallon at a time! Didn't take long for us to realize that Pitchburst had other advantages over the dunk tank: it was safer -- we let the water do the falling -- and ANYONE could play and get wet. Kids and adults were lining up, and paying, to pitch AND to get soaked! The game, and the carnival, were a huge success. And Pitchburst created such an instant demand that we patented the idea and set about making the game available to everyone.

Since then we've worked hard and made Pitchburst even better. Now it's lighter, stronger, and easier to set up, with more exciting ways to play. Our popular web site helps thousands worldwide discover Pitchburst every day. Whether you're planning a fun event, or looking for profitable new ways to grow your business, flip through this catalog to see how Pitchburst can make a big splash for you.
